DISCUSSION: TOM DOLAND – I would like to thank the guys in the police department for the time I was out. Them covering shifts and taking care of business while I was gone, I will never forget their support. Ryan Byerly – Lead service line inventory have we touched on this at all. Ramey – We did during our last executive session and a few had questions about it. Byerly – Alright we are federally mandated for the whole US to find out what service line material we have. Moore – ugh huh Byerley – On both sides of the meter going to the house and then going to the main as well. Moore – We are talking water, is that right? Byerly – Yes, and I want to apologize because I was under the impression Mr. Keiser had you up to date before I came on. With me not know where Mr. Keiser left off at but it is due by April 15th 2024. I just want to make sure we get on something about that. I did receive a bid from one contractor that works with me in several other towns and it was about 32K to check them all. Moore – shheeww Byerly – He is being generous there I believe because it is going to take him longer than he thinks but, um. Moore- So what do we have to do? Byerly – So the village of Homer rented a vac trailer and we went around sucking out all the meter pits. To see what the line was on both sides. But we have 3 maintenance staff in order to do that. We were able to save ourselves about 40K. We averaged about 50 meters a day and when we did that what we would do is clean out the pit on both sides then we had a check list that had address on it, and we would draw a line down the paper side ways to the main or to the home. Then mark the paper weather it was copper, plastic or galvanized. We did not find any lead so we didn't have to put that down, but other towns around here have found lead like Villa Grove, I don't know if there is any in this town or not. Hoult – Is that the purpose of this to find lead? Byerly – Yeah, they are looking for lead and galvanized. Hoult – If a there is galvanized then that does have some lead content. Byerly – If there is galvanized going to the home and you don't know if there has ever been lead before hand then they will consider it as lead. Service line they are going to make you replace it all the way up to 18" into the home. There is supposed to be more federal money coming but they just got done with their lines of grants for the service line inventory. I didn't realize that it had not even been done because I am still trying to play caught up from taking over. I kind of feel like I missed the boat on that to even get you guys a grant to help with the 32K. Moore – and this needs to be done by April? Byerly – April 15th, 2024 so you guys have like no time unfortunately. I took the assumption that your previous operator was on top of this because it has been hammered pretty hard from the EPA. I will take some of the blame on that but I assumed that previous operator had you guys nudged a little further along. Hoult – When did this began to be a problem? Byerly – Flint Michigan happened that is when they started cracking down on it. Then it took them a few years to come up with a way to get the lead out theory. Now they are making everybody change their lead pipes. Chicago, Joliet have hundreds of thousands of service lines they are having to check. But they are looking everywhere for lead. Hoult – Well that will be hard on some home owners. Byerly – The way the EPA is saying the city are liable for the service lines. Which I don't understand that because it is past the meters. Jordan, I thought the meter to the home was the home owner and they had to pay for it.
